Request for Proposals

The State of Delaware's Department of Services for Children, Youth & Their Families (DSCYF), Division of Prevention and Behavioral Health Services (DPBHS) is seeking proposals from multiple individual licensed mental health professionals to provide the following professional service: Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation (ECMHC). Proposals are requested for county-based ECMHC statewide. The service includes program, classroom-wide and child-specific consultation and specialized training offered in a variety of early learning settings including pre-schools, child care centers, family-based child care programs, Head Start, and Early Head Start Centers – all sited in the community. Service need currently exists statewide in New Castle, Kent and Sussex County. The Department is NOT accepting proposals from agencies.

CONTEXT: DPBHS operates a comprehensive statewide behavioral health system of care which includes services to support young children, birth to five years, and their families. In recent years, there has been growing concern among many in the mental health arena and early care and education community that increasing numbers of very young children are manifesting serious behavior problems. According to the Center for Mental Health in Schools (2005), the prevalence of clinically significant emotional and behavioral disabilities among young children ranges from 4 – 10%, with significantly higher estimates for children living in families with low income levels. In very young children, these behaviors can be severe enough to warrant their removal from pre-school programs (Gilliam 2005) thus setting into motion a cascade of negative experiences. The 2005 Gilliam findings ranked Delaware as fourth in the nation for expelling young children from public pre-school programs. Evidence shows that early intervention and treatment services increases positive social child behaviors, decreases child behavior problems, decreases caregiver stress and prevents school expulsion. Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation is one such service. DPBHS has successfully been operating a statewide early childhood mental health consultation service since 2010.

This services has been provided at no cost to the early learning community since 2010 with funding received through the State's Child Care and Development Fund, the Race to the Top Early Learning Challenge Grant and by the Federal Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration. Most recently Delaware's legislature authorized state general funds to support portions of this service and beginning in October 2016 CCDF is supporting funding for three additional ECMHCs. To ensure that these services are focused on children at high risk for the development of serious emotional disturbance, priority is given to early childhood centers that meet the following qualifications:

- Enrolled in Delaware Stars for Early Success, Delaware's Quality Rating and Improvement System for early care and education programs administered by the Delaware Department of Education, and
- Have a significant proportion of children whose early child care tuition is assisted through the State of Delaware's Purchase of Care program.

Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation is a problem-solving and capacity-building intervention implemented within a collaborative relationship between a professional consultant with mental health expertise and an early care and education provider agency and includes the classroom teacher and a child's family members as appropriate. Early childhood mental health consultation aims to build the capacity and improve the ability of child care professionals, programs and systems to prevent, identify, treat and reduce the impact of mental health problems among young children. Delaware's Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation (ECMHC) service primarily focuses on children between the ages of two years and five years, inclusive but younger children may also benefit.

The Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation (ECMHC) service aims to improve the quality of early childhood programs; increase the capacity and skills of program staff to work with young children who exhibit challenging behaviors; improve children's social-emotional and behavioral health and development; and promote the importance of social and emotional wellness. The social, emotional and behavioral health of young children is a critical aspect of development, and is critical for school readiness and achievement, social relationships, and long-term health outcomes later in life.

Infants, toddlers and preschoolers with social, emotional and behavioral difficulties are at an increased risk for suspension and expulsion, which may put them on a negative educational and developmental trajectory. We know with the right supports and resources, young children with mental, emotional and behavioral health needs and their families can achieve a better quality of life and truly thrive in school and across the community. When untreated, however, mental health issues can lead to school failure, family conflicts, substance abuse, community violence, and juvenile justice involvement.

Nationally, ECMHC has emerged as an effective evidence based strategy to promote young children's positive social emotional development and behavioral health and to prevent, identify, and reduce the impact of mental health problems among young children and their families. In Delaware, ECMHC has demonstrated impacts for improving children's social skills, reducing challenging behaviors, preventing preschool suspensions and expulsions, improving child-adult relationships, and reducing teacher stress.

This ECMHC service is part of the mental health treatment services continuum for very young children and their families in Delaware provided under the Division of Prevention and Behavioral Health Services. Where available and clinically appropriate, evidence-based interventions/practices and a system of care approach to service delivery provide the framework of this service. The system of care service delivery approach is based on the recognition that the needs of children with serious mental health issues can best be met within their home, school, and community, and that families and youth should be a driving force in making decisions about the services they receive from an array of mental health and support services that are organized on an individualized basis into a coordinated system to meet the unique clinical and functional needs of each child and family. These core values and principles of systems of care guide the work of the ECMHC service.

It is anticipated that the contractual agreement with the successful bidder will begin in late early 2017 and extend through September 30, 2017, at a minimum. There is no guarantee of continued funding beyond that period but it is anticipated that funding will continue to be available. As good outcomes for children, families and early care and education providers are achieved through this service and as demand for this service increases, it is expected that DPBHS will continue to secure funding from a variety of sources to increase access for early child care and education providers to receive the very effective consultation and training that is provided through the early childhood mental health consultation service.

Only proposals from individual licensed mental health professionals with experience in providing services to children in the early childhood age range (includes birth to 5 years of age) will be reviewed. Individual bidders who are successful in obtaining a contract award under this RFP must be licensed in the state of Delaware at the time of the contract start date. The Department is not accepting proposals from agencies.

A complete response to this RFP is required for consideration by reviewers. Along with a cover letter all items to be submitted with the proposal are described in the Proposal Requirements Form which may be found on page 6 of this RFP.

Independent contractors are responsible for payment of any and all federal, state or local taxes that may apply. The successful bidders must accept full payment by conventional check and/or other electronic means and/or procurement (credit) card at the State's option, without imposing any additional fees, costs or conditions.

A Delaware Business License is required of each independent contractor at the time of contract execution, but not at time of proposal. Successful bidders must obtain and maintain a Delaware business license for the period of the contract. The contractor is NOT a State of Delaware employee, but rather an independent contracted provider.
